WHY YOU SHOULD PREFER TO INSURE

STILL STANDS

WITH THE OLD

INSURANCE CO. OF NORTH AMERICA.

PHILADELPHIA.

1. It is the Oldest Insurance Company in America,—having commenced business in 1791—and therefore entitled to your confidence on the score of Stability.

2. It has done a successful business for eighty years, thereby demonstrating the ability of its management.

3. It has uniformly maintained during its long career, the Highest Reputation for Integrity and Honorable Dealing, justifying thereby, full faith that your rights will receive fair and liberal protection.

4. It has paid Losses in cash, exceeding Thirty Million Dollars, without the deduction of a cent, or a day's delay—a sufficient evidence of the Wealth of its Resources, as well as disposition to meet promptly all liabilities.

5. It has a Cash Capital and Surplus of over $1,700,000, securely invested—an ample GUARANTEE AGAINST DISASTER, in the event of unusual and extraordinary losses, which have often swept away companies of limited means.

6. It insures all the Letter classes of property on Liberal Terms, for long or short periods, and settles all honest claims for losses, Promptly and Equitably, at the Agency where the insurance is effected—observing in all its business relations, the Golden Rule.

Tingley Automatic Heat Governor.

Price Refused Until the First of July Next.

Price attached to furnace $18. Better pay for a Governor that will surely prevent the escape of poisonous gases from your furnace, than save your money, and breathe a tainted atmosphere, suffer from the inconvenience of coal dust, unevenly heated rooms, and danger from fire. You need a Governor more in the Fitting months when you use the dangerous smoke pipe damper to check the fire.

THE NEW REMINGTON Sewing Machine

STILL STANDS

UNRIVALLED.

All competent judges acknowledge it to be the simplest, the easiest, the quietest and the most easily handled of any shuttle machine now in market. It will sew with perfect stitch, from the finest muslin to the heaviest and firmest beaver-cloth, or leather, without change of stitch, needle, thread or tension. Its percentage of increase of sales in 1874 was 90¾ per cent. and 87¾ per cent. more than any other machine. In 1875 its ratio of increase was still greater, being 100 per cent. More than fifteen thousand other machines of first-class make have already been exchanged for it.

No person wishing a sewing machine can do themselves justice, whatever their prejudice, if they fail to examine the New Remington before purchasing. Five dollars a month will buy you a REMINGTON at 35 BROADWAY.

Philosopher Push.

An Irish Tale.

CHAPTER I.

It's a long story, Miss Maria, but since yo'r agreeable t' listen to it, why it 'ud ill become me t' say "no." Sure his name wasn't "Push" wrote upon the half-door av his shop. His father was as warm-hearted an' kind a crachur as ivir dhrew th' breath o' life; but he was mortial fond av th' dhrop; an' troth, he was a sorry han'ful, an' a heart-breakt' his wife. God be wid the time, I often heard me mother say whin I was a girsha that it 'ud make the hart 'ithin yeh stand still an' stop batin wid the soreness for t' see poor Mrs. Hennessey wid her five children an' sometimes not a bit t' put in their mouths, an' all along o' the dhrink. Bedad, it was near the ruination av thim all. Shure whin three av the children died wan desperate hard winther the docthor sed it was for the most part in regard av th' want of sittin' an' dhrinking. But, anyhow, as some was tuck thim that was lift need up for it, for better childhre nor Biddy an' Tom Hennessey—that's Push, miss—never stepped. Bid win't t' survive an' often used t' sind the mother home some money, until she got married, an' the crathur died soon afther. But it's Tom that was the boy. Ahoo! wasn't he! He was always industherin' at somethin' or-other. The poor boy seen what the dhrink done for his father, an' the sorra drop he'd iver touch, but used t' save his money—the little he had, God bless him—an' he bought a boat wid it, and used t' have it an Derravarragh Lake; an' whin gintlemin 'ud come down from Dublin t' Osh Tom used t' go wid thim an' get ped for his time an' for the boat.

An' tis he that was th' schollard, too. He had a whole shelf av th' dhresser full av to' splindidist books yeh ivir clapped yer two good-lookin' eyes on; an' well able to read out av iviry wan av thim he was.

Whin Push was a fine, good-lookin' boy av three an' twenty, th' ould father—God rest his soul!—died; and throth it's often an' often me mother used to make us screech wid th' laughin' whin she'd be tellin' av th legacy he left Tom.

"Tom," sez th' ould father, an' at that time he was near a past spenkin'—"Tom," sez he, "I haven't much t' lave yeh."

"Thrue for yeh, father," sez Tom knowin' in his own mind that it all wint in th' dhrink; but we all have our failin's. God help us! as well as poor ould Tom.

"Anyhow, I'll lave yeh me blessin,' av yeh think it's worth havin'," sez he.

"Av coorse I do, father," he sez; "but don't be thinkin' av me at all; fix yer mind an where yer goin' to."

"I will, avick," sez the ould father. "But before I go I want t' give yeh a bit of advice that'll be as good as a legacy in goold t' yeh."

"Let us hear it, father," sez Tom; an' me mother used t' say that th' all gother roun' th' bed to listen t' what he had to say.

"Tom," sez he, "my advice t' yeh is this, an' see that yeh mind it, for it often stud me in good sted, I can tell yeh. Whinever yeh get into the middle av a fight, don't keep lookin' about, but sthrike th' first head that comes in yer way—it mayn't be the right head, but sthrike it anyway, on chance. It'll relieve yer feelins, ma bouchal."

As I said afore, me mother used often t' make us laugh whin she'd be tellin' the story; for it was just wan av the quare foolish things ye'd expect ould Hennessey t' say. Anyhow, Push didn't mind th' advice, for he was a mortial quiet boy, an' afther th' ould father died, shure begad, he tuk the little slated house at the cross roads an' opened a little ginral shop for th' mother an' himself. At first they didn't sell tay an' tobacca—only bosoms an' stay laces, an turf, an' sugar sticks an' cotton balls, an' thim sort av things until th' saved money enough t' buy a license. Thin, me jewil! what d'ye think? but Tom got a grand counter put up, an' scales an' weights, an' he had "Push" wrote on th' half-door. An' from that day t' this he nivir was called nothin' but "Push."

The house was raal dacint, an' there was a nate little bit o' land that wint wid it, an' that Push used t' plow an' harra himself, wid sometimes half a day's help from a willin' nabor. Me own poor husband—the high heavens be his ced this blessed day!—many's th' time gev him a help, for ivery one liked Push, he was that good t' ould mother.

Push was doin' well—so he was—for in th' fishin' saison he used t' have gintlemin lodgin' in th' house, an' thin he'd go out wid thim an Derravarragh Lake, an' what betchune wan thing an' another he got a dacent little bit o' money together. But wirra! wirra! that was th' unlucky money t' more nor Push! Yeh see he panted t' git married, an' t' see his childhre grown up about him, an' small blame to him for the same. So he was coortin' Nancy Reilly that lived about a quarter or a mile bayant the cross-roads. It's sho that was the puty girsha, an' as quiet an' industhrus as Push himself. Push used t' wondher why he didn't look out for a girl wid a stockin', or, maybe, a couple o' pigs or a cow; but Push was that fond o' Nancy that troth he' ha' married her wid just only th' clothes she stud up in! Bogorra, she hadn't much more, for her mother was dead—God rest her sowl!—and her father, Bill Reilly, was a dark soart av a man, a regular Shaughraun; sometimes he'd go off for weeks t'gether an' nobody 'd iver know nothin' about him. Nancy herself usen't t' know, the crachur! an' there she'd be workin' the two hands offa her, for av she hadn't the bit an' the sup ready for her rutcheen of a father, bedad it 'ud be worse for her. Shure he had no sort av behavior in him at all! for wan time he kem home he ate th' need pratees! an' whin a man 'ud hav nd' maneess to do th' loikes o' that, ahure what cud yez expect from him? Ould Mrs. Hennessy used t' have Nancy helpin' her whin she'd have th' lodgers, for the girsha was a right clever cook, an' cud set a dinner av bacon an' chickens on the table fit for a king. An' that's how it was that Push and Nancy kem t' be coorting wan another.

CHAPTER II.

There was wan time Mrs. Hennessey had lodgers in the house, three fine sthrappin' gintlemin, that kem down for the fishin' on Derrawarragh Lake. They war fine, free-handed gintlemin an' very good wid their money, an' whin they war goin' away wan av thim, that uset t' write books—med a song about Nancy an' gev her the price av a weddin' dhress av wine-colored cashmer. Bechune they money that Nancy an' Push had the very night the lodgers left it was nigh an fifteen pound; an' that very avenin' who comes up t' Push'n but Bill Reilly, Nancy's father. I was there meself, too an' we wear jokin Nancy an' Push whin Bill sez, sez he:

"Mrs. Hennessey," sez he, "I dunno what's the matter wid me, but I've a pain across two av me shoulders, an' av yeh wouldn't mind, I'd like to lie down for a bit on the bed in the room there beyant until Nancy's ready t' come home."

"Niver say it twice, to be shure, to be shure!" says Mrs. Hennessey: "an ye must take a taste o' sperrits, for maybe it's a cowld has a grip o' ye."

"No, Mrs. Hennessey," he sez, "I won't take it," sez he.

An' throth me an' Push looken at wan another wid all the eyes we had to' hear Bill Reilley refusin' the drink!

So he wint in an' lay down on the bed in the little room off a the kitchen, and we war in th' other room next the shop havin' some tay an' white bread and butther, whin Nancy sez:

"I'll go in an' see how father is now; he was very quare and silent-like all the evening', an' didn't even take much heed whin we war countin' the money."

"He was thinkin' how hard it 'ud be for him t' give yeh up," sez Push, quite soft to her; an' shure I don't wondher, for it's the brakin' o' me own heart yeh are intirely.'

"Arrah! be aisy!" she sez, wid a beautiful red blush in the very heart av her cheeks, an' she ran into the room, but back' she was agin while ye'd be winkin'.

"He father isn't there," she sez, lookin' froightened like; "maybe he got sick an' wint home, for the back door is open. I must go after him and see."

No wan cud say agin that, for it was only roight and proper. So aff she wint, an' Push wint wid her. I sted wid ould Mrs. Hennessey until he kem back, an' towld us that Bill Reilly hadn't gone home an' poor Nancy was afeard he was gone aff an some av his gallivantin's an' near cried her eyes out.

Well, t' make a long story short, the very next mornin' Push was goin' t' pay the rint that day, an' he wint t' get the money out av a ticken-bag, he uset t' keep it in the box in the room: an' lo! an' behould yeh!—nayther sight nor light av his money cud he see! It was square, shure enough—an' whet was worse, it wasn't only the rint money that was gone, but all that he and Nancy had airned wid the gintlemin, and the price av four fine pigs into the bargain. It was too bad entirely. Push sarched ivirywhere; but he felt purty sure it was robbed from him, an' that the robber was no wan but Bill Reilly, for no wan but Bill an' Nancy wint into the room!

"Say nothin' about it," sez he t' the mother, "until I go over an' spake t' Nancy."

So the poor boy wint up the road like a madman: but whin he got t' Bill's the padlock was on the deore, an' no wan t' be seen Thinkin' that maybe Nancy 'ud soon be back, he sot anundher the hedge an' waited until he was tired.

"Av coorse she'll be down by-an-by," he sez t' the mother. But, bedad, Nancy nivir kem, an' Push nivir got his money for she an' her father niver kem back.

It was a quare thing altogether, an' no wan knew what t' make of it all. As for Push himself, why he'd stop any wan that 'ud begin t' talk about it, so no wan knew what his mind was about Nancy. Ould Mrs. Hennessey died a couple o'years afther and people thought thin that Push 'ud get marr'd. But there he sted mindin' his shop an' the fishin', an' seldom goin' anywhere but he was the kindest an the best nabour ivir drew breath! God reward him!—an' so He has.

Ay, indeed, Miss Maria! it was only a Christmas Eve mornin' that I was standin' in the doore knittin' whin a dacint woman dhressed very quiet and respectable, kem along the road an' stops an' looks very hard at me.

"Can yeh tell me, av yeh place," sez she, "if Tom Hennessey lives here yit?"

"Yis, ma'am," sez I; "there beyant at the turn. He keeps the show at the cross-roads."

"Are you Peggy Boyle?" sez she.

"Yis, ma'am," sez I, wondherin' how she knew me.

"Will yeh let me come in an' sit down?" sez she.

Av coorse I did; an' she kem in an' tuk aff her bonnet an' shawl, an' not a lie I'm tellin' whin I say I thrimbled as if it was a ghost I saw—for there sot Nancy Reilly.

Well, ye see, ivery wan uset t' be givin' her the hard word afther her goin' all that way, but, throth, meself was so wondherin' at seein' her that I niver thought av anythin, but sez: "Arrah, Nancy Reilley! an' is this you, avourneen? What bekem av yeh at all, at all, all this time?"

Faix, she was cryin' away as hard as iver she cud, an' niver made me no answer.

"Nancy agra," says I, "are yeh goin' over to see Push? Troth, it's lonesome enough he is now, since the ould mother died."

"Isn't he married?" she sez.

"Married!" sez I. "No, bedad, Nancy! he niver looked at a colleen sence yeh went aff from him."

"Peggy Boyle," say Nancy t' me, "yeh war at Mrs. Hennessey's th' last night I was there, so yeh know all about how me father wint into the room, purtindin' t' lie down on the bed? Och! Peggy jewil! there's no use in denying it. Shure he stole the money, an'-kem back late that night and towld me he tuk it, an' that the polis war after him for bein' joined with a band av smugglers. The heart 'ithin me died when I heerd it; an' I wint on my knees to him t' ask him t' give up Push's money; but he wouldn't. An' he said av I didn't go wid him an' help him t' escape t' Amerikay, that av he was tuk, he'd sware be bell, book an' candlelight that I allaways helped him in his bad ways. I was a simple girsha thin, only eighteen year ould, an' I didn't know much; an I know how proud Push was av his good name; so I wint aff wid me father, an' a hard time I had av it wid him! He died a year an' a half ago in Canada an' betchune wan thing and another I saved up money enough t' pay Push,

THE DAY.

The Mississippi house of representatives has adopted a resolution impeaching Gov. Ames of high crimes and misdemeanors.

The Sioux Indians have driven the United States troops from Fort Pease, on the Yellowstone, and threaten to massacre the garrison.

The late heavy snows in Canada and Northern New England and New York have seriously blockaded the railways and highways.

We have received from Mr. Stockwell his report as commissioner of public schools, and the report of the board of education. We have also received the second annual report of the state prison commission.

At the weekly business meeting of Plymouth church, last evening, the report of the examining committee on Bowen's charges against Mr. Beecher was read, and after discussing the statement made at Halliday's house, it was voted to summon Bowen to appear before the church on Wednesday evening next to answer, orally, questions regarding the accusations and insinuations contained in his letter of the 23d instant.

Yesterday the United States Senate passed the bill authorizing an increase of the 4½ per cent. bonds from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000, payable at the pleasure of the United States after thirty, instead of fifteen, years. The House military academy appropriation bill was discussed at length, without, however, taking action. In the House of Representatives the foreign affairs committee presented a report relative to Minister Schenck and the Emma mine matter, submitting therewith the correspondence with the State Department, and asking that it be referred back to the committee.

OUR STATE'S "MAIN HOLT."

We have always supposed that the great glory of both our nation and state was free institutions, conspicuous among which is the public school. Our orators have long boasted of the advantages that every little American has over little Englishmen, little Frenchmen and little Germans, of acquiring free, gratis, and for nothing, enough education to enable him to take a commanding position in politics, or rake shekels into his pockets in commercial occupations. About our military prowess we have not heard a great deal. For sometime after the war of 1812, when we were regularly whipped on land, and especially after the Mexican war, when we were more fortunate, we were frequently assured that one Yankee could thrash from three to a dozen men of any other clime, but since it took fifteen Yankees four years of hard work to whip five Southerners we have heard but little of our ability to produce Napoleons on demand and make the bones of Wellington roll over with envy. According to a burlesque speech in some of the school readers it has been firmly held that the "crownin' glory of the United Statesen is free eddication." But the debate in our house of representatives yesterday on the centennial appropriation convinces us that this is an error. Our state has nothing to boast of in the way of "eddication," but its "main holt" is its citizen soldiery.

Mr. Fay of this city told the house that the state would derive more glory by showing the militia at Philadelphia for four days than by showing our educational system for four months. Mr. Fay has wielded both the rod and the sword and his visit to West Point last June must have given him increased familiarity with high military standards. In making this comparison Mr. Fay spoke from personal knowledge. We hope he did not ironically intend to convey the idea that a four days' exhibition either of the militia or the schools would be better for the state's reputation than a four months' exhibition.

It has been sometimes supposed that the Rhode Island militia is about the worst disorganized organization known. It has no general field days, no annual camps, like the militia in some states. It has a preponderance of officers that is a matter of joke even in our own state. The best companies in the state are not in the organized militia at all, but are elegant independent military clubs whose parades afford great pleasure to the popular, and who scorn to obey the orders of any one except the governor. It appears, however, that the points are all in the favor of the militia. The difference between the elegantly uniformed militia man of 1876 and the shabbily dressed minute man of 1776 is to show the progress that Rhode Island has made in a hundred years.

If the crowned heads of Europe hear that the militia of our different states is to be exhibited they will undoubtedly rush over here even if Mr. Jay's magnificent plan for entertaining them is neglected. It is not to be supposed for a moment that the czar would lose an opportunity to watch the evolutions of the Muskrat Rangers for four days at Philadelphia. Just whisper in Von Moltke's ear that the Bungtown Horse Marines are going to be exhibited at Philadelphia, and he will be in a perfect ferment till he and Unser Fritz have secured accommodations at some low priced but strictly respectable boarding house in the city of brotherly love. MacMahon will not lose the chance of adding to his limited knowledge of military affairs afforded by a display of the beautiful clothes of the E Pluribus Unum cadets.

It is our impression that the expositions of London, Paris and Vienna were exhibitions of the arts of peace. England, France and Austria keep a few home guards apiece, and have occasionally done a little fighting, but they did not exhibit their soldiers in 1851, 1867 and 1873. But the United States, pre-eminently a nation of peace, gets up an exhibition and all the veterans who did serve in the last war and all the militia who didn't serve in the last war must be exhibited to show the nation's progress during a hundred years.

Our citizen soldiery is our main defence in case of war, and it would not be a bad plan to show the effete monarchists of an old world what we can do in the way of drilling civilians. It would doubtless be an excellent thing to send our militia to Philadelphia for four days—or perhaps three. But if our educational system is so inferior to the systems of other states and of European nations that its exhibition would reflect less credit on our state than would a miscellaneous street parade of amateur soldiers whom a military man would distinguish from real soldiers at the first glance of his eye, then it is high time that our educational system was improved.

RELIGIOUS NEWS.

A hitherto unknown Christian community in Eastern Bengal has been discovered by an English missionary. No evidence can be found of the visit of any Protestant teacher to the locality prior to the commencement of the movement which led to the formation of this Christian company, which is alleged to have been founded by a Brahmin, who had undertaken to expound to his countrymen the Bible and prayer book, and succeeded in gathering together a considerable number of followers.

The French minister of public works has sent a circular upon Sunday labor to the railway companies of France. In it he says that if all work cannot be suspended upon Sunday, the workmen should have an opportunity of attending religious worship. He desires, therefore, that as many as practicable be relieved from duty at 9 A. M. in Summer and 11 A. M. in Winter. The companies are requested in the circular to express an opinion upon the change.

The Baptists announce a ten days camp-meeting at Ocean Grove, New Jersey, next Summer, the owners of the grounds, who are Methodists, granting free use of them. The proposed meeting will begin July 11 and close about July 20, and will afford Baptists a good opportunity for fraternal greeting, grateful commemoration, spiritual communion, and physical recreation. It is expected that Drs. Fuller, Bridgman, Armitage, Broadus, Feale, Lorimer, Boardman, Dickinson, Henson and Cutting will be among the preachers.

It seems that Bishop Dupanloup of Orleans has induced the court of Rome to waive the objections to the canonization of Joan of Arc, drawn from the disagreeable fact that she was condemned to death by the bishop of Beauvais, who, though an outrageous bully and nefarious politician, was a bishop in good standing. The only difficulties now in his way come from the English Catholic bishops, who, while they recognize the claims of Joan of Arc to canonization as a virgin and as a heroine, contest her right to be sainted as a martyr on the ground that she died not for the Catholic faith but for France, not for piety but for patriotism. The English bishops prefer a canonization of Sir Thomas More or of Queen Mary of Scotland.

The following are some of the salaries paid to foreign missionaries; In India the American board pay their missionaries $1080; the Presbyterian, $1000 to $1050; the Reformed (Dutch), $1100; the Methodist, $1200. In China the American board pay $900, and in southern China, $800; the Presbyterian board, $1000, except in Canton, $900; the Methodist, $950; the Baptist, $900 and house; the Episcopal, $1080. In regard to single missionaries the American and Presbyterian boards each pay two thirds the salary [of a married missionary; the Methodists pay in China $550; and in India, $1000; the Baptist, $800 and no house; the Episcopal, $600; the Reformed (Dutch), $600. For an unmarried female missionary the American board pay one half of the salary of a married man; the Presbyterian board, from $250 to $600; the Methodist to China, $175, and India, $600; the Baptist, $500 to $600; the Episcopal, $450; the Reformed (Dutch), $600; the Reformed Presbyterians, $400.

The whole number of Congregational churches in the country is 3138, of which 917 have settled and 1630 acting pastors, and 891 are without pastors. The total number of church members is 338,313. The additions last year were 17,306 by profession of faith, and 12,193 by letter, a total of 29,645, while the whole number of removals was 16,805, showing a net gain of 12,810 members. The whole number of ministers in the pastoral work is 2307, and there are 993 not in the pastoral work, and 258 licentiates. The whole number in Sabbath schools is 401,823. Charitable contributions to the amount of $1,241,011 39 are reported by 2118 churches—1020 churches, less than half the states making returns, report their home expenditures to be $1,388,446 74. The editor remarks that though the increase in the number of churches is less than usual, the increase in membership is greater than either of the preceding five years. The number of additions by profession is greater than either of the preceding seven years. The increase of benevolent contributions is $52,876 00.

A statement of the points of difference between the Protestant Episcopal and the Reformed Episcopal churches, as ordered by the general council of the latter body, has been issued in tract form. In brief, the Reformed church holds that the true church consists of all who are joined to Christ by a living faith, and which, under varying forms of organization, is yet one in Christ Jesus. The claims of the apostolic succession, this church repudiates—holding to episcopacy, not as divine right, but simply as a very ancient and desirable form of church polity. It strikes the word priest, as applied to the minister, from its ordinal and prayer book, and knows but one priest, Jesus Christ. It regards the sacraments as institutions divinely appointed, and as means of grace, because they represent the truth; but repudiates the theory that they convey a grace peculiar to themselves, and which is not common to other divinely appointed means. It prohibits the erection of altars in its churches, or introduction into public worship of anything calculated to teach sacerdotalism. It commends any bishop or presbyter who desires to leave it, to another evangelical church, with its prayers and love. It invariably receives to its membership by letter, or other satisfactory evidence, communicants of other churches, dispensing with confirmation unless desired. It allows and encourages the union of extempore prayer with its liturgy, and values meetings for social worship, in which the laity participate, as promoting the spiritual growth of churches.

Announcements for Tomorrow.

A temperance sermon will be preached in the Thames-street M. E. church at seven o'clock.

The Rev. S. F. Hancock will preach in the Shiloh Baptist church at half-past seven o'clock.

There will be service in Zion church in the morning at half-past ten and the children's service in the afternoon at half-past three. The rector will preach at both services.

Services will be held in the chapel of St. John the Evangelist on Poplar street at half-past seven o'clock. On account of sickness in the neighborhood the bell will not be rung.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The schools reopen on Monday.

—The revenue cutter Grant put into this port yesterday afternoon.

—Col. R. B. Lawton is confined to his room by sickness. Gen. J. Alfred Hazard is also quite ill.

—The sewing circle of the African M. E. church will give a leap year tea party in the lecture room of the Touro chapel next Tuesday evening.

—Sheppard's colored jubilee singers appear at the Opera House in this city next Monday evening. The press in other cities speak in the highest terms of the singing of these people.

—Lieut. E. L. Zalinski, formerly at Fort Adams, read a paper on rifled cannon last evening before the Society of Arts at the Institute of Technology, Boston, where he is an instructor.

—The contract for building the new house for W. C. Rivers of Boston, on Red Cross avenue, has been awarded to a Mr. Clark, of Boston, instead of Mr. Bigbee. The plans have been changed and the house will not cost over $10,000.

—The schooner David Currie, Capt. Barrett, from Rockport with a cargo of ice for Newbern, N. C., arrived here yesterday with her centre board broken, and her crew considerably used up. She will be obliged to discharge a portion of her cargo before proceeding.

—The pilot boat Francis Perkins, No. 13, arrived here yesterday badly iced up and out of provisions and water. She was supplied by J. & L. Coggeshall. She has been on a cruise from New York since Feb. 10th. She took on board several pilots who arrived from New York this morning.

—The alarm of fire raised last evening was occasioned by smoke issuing from a chimney on Long wharf. Box 3 was sounded by Gen. Burdick, but the fire was a very trifling affair. The Babcock extinguisher was promptly on hand to do service if required.

—The body of Peter J. Halsten, a tailor in Co. E. First artillery, stationed at Fort Adams was found in the engineer's dock at Fort Adams yesterday afternoon. His hands were found in his sleeves muff fashion and it is presumed that he fell overboard the previous evening while intoxicated. He will be buried with military honors this afternoon.

CAPTAIN GEORGE H. KELLEY of the American Steamboat Company left the city this afternoon to take charge of the company's boat Crystal Wave plying between New York and Sandy Hook in connection with the New Jersey Southern railroad. He will be absent probably eight months during which time his place on the bay will be filled by Captain N. B. Allen.

Captain Kelley begun steamboating on this bay in 1848 as deck hand from which place he has been advanced to his present responsible position through the successive steps of fireman, assistant engineer, engineer and pilot, having had command of a steamer for the past eleven years. The people of Newport generally will be sorry to lose the captain, even temporarily from this vicinity.

CONCERT AT THE THAMES STREET CHURCH.

The concert and exhibition of the Thames-street Methodist Episcopal church Sunday school was a success and reflected credit upon Superintendent Crandall and all interested in the getting up of the affair.

"Dreams of Home," was sung beautifully by a select choir composed of the Misses Ailman, Miss Kate Goddard, Miss Nellie Burdick, and George A. Pritchard, John Rogers presiding at the organ.

A dialogue entitled "Playing School" was given by fifteen of the scholars and the song "Childhood Hours" was prettily sung by Herbert, Mary and Nellie Dyer and Mary Lewis. Minnie Moore and Tommy Magrane, two of the youngest children in the school, recited a piece entitled "Matrimonial Tiff" which was one of the best things of the evening and at the request of the audience it was repeated. Miss Melissa Hunt, one of the teachers in the Clarke-street school, gave a song, chorus and recitation, the whole entitled "Beautiful Evermore." It was the finest piece spoken during the evening. The remainder of the exercises were of an interesting nature. A good audience was present and the school will net a handsome sum to be devoted to paying the current expenses of the church.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

A very interesting temperance meeting was held at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon. The subject was "The Relation of the Temperance Question to the Christian Church." There was a full house. The Rev. J. C. Kimball presided. He offered prayer and read the Scriptures. The Rev. Messrs. Conant (of the State Temperance Alliance) Whitcher and John Pratt followed with remarks and the Rev. J. P. Taylor offered a prayer. Benjamin Mumford made an address and the Rev. Messrs. Wheeler and Van Horne offered prayer. The singing was general and very good.

In the evening the meeting was held at the same place and the attendance was again large. The Rev. Dr. Malcom presided and read the Scriptures. The Rev. Messrs. Conant, Church, of Providence, and Kimball addressed the meeting. The singing was a prominent feature of the meeting, and was very good. A memorial addressed to the managers of the centennial exposition protesting against the sale of intoxicating drinks on the grounds, was offered for signatures.

This morning there was a general conference meeting at the United Congregational church on the subject of "The Relation of the Temperance Question to Education." The Rev. J. P. Taylor presided, and made an address. The opening prayer was made by James A. Green. The Rev. Messrs. Church, Malcom and Wheeler and Mr. Greene made remarks.

A children's meeting was held at the First Baptist church at half past two o'clock this afternoon, and there will be a general service at the same place this evening. Tomorrow sermons on temperance will be preached by the several pastors, and in the evening there will be a union meeting at the United Congregational church.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, Feb. 25.

SENATE.

Mr. Verry, from the finance committee, reported a resolution appropriating $161,000 for the completion of the new state prison, and recommended its adoption. An accompanying letter from the Rev. A. Woodbury, a member of the commission, states that this amount will probably finish the work; as it is well known that in matters of this magnitude, scrupulous exactness cannot be expected in making preliminary estimates.

After some discussion as to why the commission recommended $161,000 when the annual report of the commission asks but for $100,000, a motion of Mr. Slocum to amend by substituting the latter for the former sum was adopted.

The resolution was then further discussed by Messrs. Powel, Verry, Luther, Seagraves, Slocum and others, and finally adopted.

Mr. Powel presented the petitions of James P. Lane and others of Bristol, and J. M. Budlong and others of Westerly, against taxation of religious and charitable institutions. Tabled to accompany the tax bill to the house.

HOUSE.

The special order of the day, the resolution appropriating money for the expenses of Rhode Island's representation at the centennial exhibition, was taken up.

The first question was upon the amendment of Mr. Goodwin, striking out $7,000 from the substitute resolution, and inserting $10,000 as the amount to be appropriated. The amendment was lost by a vote of 25 ayes to 31 nays.

Mr. Pratt moved to strike out the $7,000 and insert $5,000 as the amount. The motion was lost by a large majority.

The question upon Mr. Pratt's amendment, appropriating $5,000 to pay the expenses of three military companies to visit the centennial, and $5,000 to pay other expenses, was then considered.

Mr. Fay thought that the $2,000 which was to be expended for the educational exhibition was too much. The educational display will only serve to teach us that the state is behind the times. The state will get more reputation from the four days' show of its military, than it will from four months of a display of school maps and models, literary compositions and other things, which have no superior quality and will not compare favorably with kindred displays to be made by other states and foreign countries.

Mr. Pratt withdrew his amendment and offered the following amendment to the substitute resolution of appropriation: That $5,000 additional is hereby appropriated to the Newport Artillery, Providence Light Infantry and United Train of Artillery of Providence, to be equally divided to represent the military of Rhode Island in the military column at Philadelphia at the centennial, and that the governor is hereby authorized to draw upon the general treasurer for said sum.

Mr. Aldrich asked if we had a right to send the military to Philadelphia. If the state is to be represented by the military it would be vastly more to its honor to send the Grand Army of the Republic, or some other body of men who fought in the last war. What is there in our militia that we should send them to Philadelphia? We have barely a regiment of private soldiers with two or three regiments of officers.

Mr. Pratt withdrew his amendment to allow Mr. Sheffield to offer an amendment to the substitute resolution reported by the committee on finance, striking out the words "and educational," which would make the resolution of appropriation of money only for an exhibition of the industrial interests of the state.

Mr. Aldrich said a contract had already been made with Col. T. W. Higginson of Newport to furnish a history of education in the state. The board of state education had made the contract in good faith, and the amount to be paid under it was $1,200. If this sum was not taken out of the appropriation the state would certainly be called upon to pay it in some other way.

Mr. Sheffield said that there would be no credit done to the state by the educational display, and he hoped his amendment would prevail.

Mr. Sheffield's amendment striking out the words "and educational" from the substitute resolution was adopted.

Mr. Pratt then renewed his amendment adding $5,000 to the original appropriation of $7,000, to be equally divided between the Newport Artillery, First Light Infantry and United Train of Artillery of Providence.

After some further discussion the ayes and noes upon Mr. Pratt's amendment were taken, and the amendment was lost by a vote of 23 ayes to 32 nays.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution and moved its passage that the whole matter of the centennial appropriation be recommitted to the finance committee, with instructions to report a resolution appropriating ——dollars for the proper exhibition of the art and industrial interests of the state, and ——dollars for the purpose of enabling—— military organizations to represent the state at the centennial.

Mr. Clarke, of Providence, offered a resolution that the subject be referred to the finance committee with instructions to report a substitute for the resolution from the senate, said substitute to appropriate $10,000 to be expended under the direction of the government and state centennial commission for the exhibition of the arts and industries of the state, together with such exhibition of the military force of this state as to the governor and said commission may seem advisable, provided the total expenditure shall not exceed the said sum of $10,000.

Mr. Rogers' motion was seconded, and after some discussion Mr. Spooner moved to fill the blanks in the resolution appropriating money with the sum of $5,000 each, which would make $5,000 for the industrial exhibition, and $5,000 for the military.

Mr. Cooke offered a resolution that as the sense of this house, no portion of the appropriation which may be made for the approaching centennial shall be made for the military.

Mr. Fay moved to postpone the whole matter to Tuesday next at 11:30 A. M.

Mr. Van Slyck moved to postpone to the May session.

These last two motions were withdrawn, and then Mr. Fay moved to adjourn to Monday next at 11 A. M. This motion was carried by 29 ayes to 24 nays, and the house so adjourned.

IT'S A WAY THEY HAVE.—Representative (Professor) Seelye, of Massachusetts, is gradually becoming acquainted with the peccadilloes of his brethren in the House of Representatives, if a story told by the correspondent of the St. Louis Republican is trustworthy. The correspondent says that during the debate on the diplomatic appropriation bill, while a Representative was drawing a comparison between the simplicity of Franklin and the display which characterizes these latter days, Professor Seeyle leaned over to Judge Kelly, of Pennsylvania, who sits immediately in front of him, and told him of a magnificent satin suit which Franklin wore when he was minister to France, and which is now preserved in a glass case in the Wadsworth Athenæum in Hartford, Connecticut. Mr. Kelly had never seen or heard of the suit before, but when he rose to speak, a few minutes afterward, he startled Professor Seeyle by telling how pleased he had been a few years before, "when visiting the Wadsworth Athenæum, to inspect the elegant embroidered and brocaded court dress of Ben. Franklin."

NEW YORK AND NEW ENGLAND JUSTICE.—The Boston Herald has the following: Frequent allusions are made in the New York and Western papers to the insecurity of life and property in New England, and the prominent murders, and forgeries, and other high crimes which have for a year past excited the community are quoted to sustain their arguments. They fail to state the whole truth, however. The fact is that crime is more certainly and more summarily punished in New England than anywhere else in America. There have been more executions in Massachusetts alone within the past six years than in New York, and the capital crimes in the latter state have exceeded the former ten to one. The conviction and sentence of Spence Pettis, James A. Coe, and Lucius W. Pond, all of whom are serving substantial sentences for their several crimes, are illustrations of Massachusetts justice, which will compare favorably with the farces known as the ring trials of New York, or the ridiculous burlesque on justice as shown in the Stokes case.

Do you ever have a pain in your back in the morning, and is it with difficulty that you move in your bed? If so, your Kidneys are diseased. Do not use plasters, they will do you no good; take HUNT'S REMEDY and be cured. HUNT'S REMEDY cures Dropsy and all Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Organs. feb21-cod-1w-n&j

A Suggestion to the Nervous.

Robust people who have, all their lives, eaten, digested and slept well, can scarcely be expected to appreciate the blessing of strong nerves as well as those who, having undergone all the misery entailed by weak ones, have eventually regained their nerve power. In order to experience the unspeakable relief of a change from an enfeebled and unrestful to a vigorous and tranquil condition of the nervous system, the nervous invalid should try a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the bracing and soothing influence of that benign tonic and nervine, appetite returns, digestion becomes complete and painless, and sleep revisits weary eyes. The causes of nervous weakness are to be found in imperfect digestion and assimilation, and the feeble performance of other vital functions resulting therefrom. The Bitters remove these causes, as well as the nervous symptoms which they produce. feb23-1w-n&j

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents. aug3-1yr.

Important to Persons Visiting New York or the Centennial.

The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam, and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. The restaurants supplied with the best. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first class hotel. Stages and cars pass the hotel constantly to all parts of the city and to Philadelphia Depot. feb12-1f

CONSUMPTIVES, TAKE NOTICE.—Every moment of delay makes your cure more hopeless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show; but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. feb7-1m Newport Daily News.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1876.

GENERAL NEWS

FROM WASHINGTON.

Postal Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

The Senate post office committee, in their investigations, find that second-class mail matter, which includes only newspapers and magazines to regular subscribers, is now carried at an annual loss of nearly $8,000,000 beyond the postage; and that this sum equals the entire deficiency of the department. The committee have considered the best means of fixing the rates on third class matter, and next Thursday will take up the rate on second class. It is believed that if the rates on newspapers can be raised so as to yield only $3,000,000 a year, that the postage on letters can be reduced to two cents.

The Emma Mine Scandal.

The committee on foreign affairs today agreed to submit the Schenck correspondence to the House, and to ask that it be printed. Secretary Fish being sick Mr. Cadwallader, assistant secretary of state, appeared for him before the committee, and, in response to the question, said all the documents in the department on the subject of the Emma mine has been furnished to the committee. The committee will further consider the subject after the documents shall have been printed.

Executive Nominations.

The President today sent the following nominations to the Senate: Warren Bristol, associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico; Thomas D. Carter, United States attorney for New Mexico; David J. Baldwin, United States attorney, and William J. Philips, United States marshal for the Eastern district of Texas; Charles A. Ingalls of Maine, to be second lieutenant of the sixth infantry.

Executive Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate today confirmed George L. Beal as pension agent at Portland, Me., Simeon Dodge collector of customs at Marblehead, Mass.; United States consuls, Benjamin H. Barrow of Nebraska at Hamburg, Wilson King of Louisiana at Bremen.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HOSTILE INDIANS.

Troops Driven From Their Position on the Yellowstone.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.

A special from Leavenworth, Kan., states that Fort Pease, on the Yellowstone, has been abandoned by its garrison. According to latest advices Col. Brisbin had arrived with a small company of troops, and barely saved the garrison, which was in imminent danger of being massacred by the Sioux, who gradually were closing in upon the fort. The Indians seemed greatly enraged at the escape of their prey, and it is expected that Col. Brisbin and troops will have to fight their way back to Fort Ellis. It is evident that the Indians are well armed and capable of a good deal of mischief.

PROVIDENCE.

Horse Nail Factory Burned.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 26.

The works of the Perkins Horse Nail company here were destroyed by fire about three o'clock yesterday morning. Forty hands were employed, and the production was a ton a day. Loss about $50,000; insured for $28,250.

GRASS IN THE HOUSE.

Grass has a beautiful effect when growing from pine cones, and requires no other attention than a slight watering, night and day. The cones may be set in sand, soil or moss, as convenience or taste may dictate. While they are yet dry and open, sprinkle in as much soil as their scales will retain; next sprinkle in fine grass seed, and finally sprinkle water lightly over the whole. The cones should be kept in a moderately warm place, and at first watered sparingly once a day. In less than a week the seeds will begin to jet out in every direction. It is not absolutely necessary to introduce any soil or sand, as the seed will grow merely sown in the bare scales; but soil at least serves to prevent the cone from closing too tightly when moistened. A very pleasing effect may be produced by setting a wet sponge in a glass bowl and sowing it over with flax, grass or mustard seed, or all four kinds mixed. Before long it will be covered with a thick growth of tender green, and, if it be judiciously watered every day, the mustard will in time put forth its tiny yellow blossoms. Children and invalids may derive delight from watching these seeds growing in still another way. Fill a common tumbler or goblet with water, cut out a round of cotton batting, or of soft thick flannel, of just the size to cover the surface, and lay it gently upon the water. Upon this scatter the seed—grass or flax or mustard, or all mixed—and gently set the tumbler away in a dark place. In a few days the seed will start; soon the roots will begin to penetrate the cotton or flannel, slowly sending down their delicate white fibres to the bottom of the vessel, while the top will be covered with a little thicket of green. Meanwhile, after the first thirty-six hours, the vessel must be kept in a warm, light place, and two or three times a week carefully replenished with water by means of a teaspoon, siphon, or a syringe inserted beneath the edge of the flannel. Watercresses may be grown in the same way, and, like the mustard plant, afford a pleasant relish when eaten with bread and butter.

DRAMATIC DIFFICULTIES.—Madame Januschek has been having a hard time of it in Australia. It appears that she made a contract for a six weeks' engagement at Sydney, at the theatre of which James Alison is manager. She played twice, when she took a terrible cold and became ill. With her usual spirit she insisted on playing, until she fainted on the stage. Then she was forced to take to her bed. Then Alison sued for $3000 damages, and a drunken agent whom they had discharged also sued them for a like amount. Alison's suit was brought against her manager, Pillot, as the madam's husband (which he does not happen to be), by a mistake. It now became necessary for Pillot to put up cash security, but it happened, unfortunately, that they had not taken any large sum from this country. What she made in America in the last tour she had invested in bonds and distributed here. So it became necessary to put up some of her magnificent jewels as collaterals, which she did, in order to keep Pillot out of prison. The arrest was in October, and the trial was set for November. They went to Melbourne, and did poorly there, and, when Pillot returned to Sydney, he was horrified to find that Alison had procured a continuance of the case to this month, and had then left for the United States. And it was necessary now for the madame to go to Europe, and as the only bail they could give was one of cash or jewels, Pillot concluded, in order to save the $3000, to surrender himself to the sheriff. This he did, after arranging for the madame's departure for London. She will probably reach London at the end of this month, and will then go direct to her villa at Darmstadt. In the meantime, Pillot remains a prisoner at Sydney until the day set for his trial.

Beyond Valuation.

The worth of any invention which obviates or mitigates the loss of any of the natural senses cannot be measured by dollars or cents. Of this character are the "Diamond Spectacles" manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company of New York, and sold by their agents throughout the country. These goods are scientifically made from the best possible material and have been proved to be of the greatest possible service to those who would prevent the loss of eyesight, or restore the clearness of vision which has already been impaired.

What time is it, Jones?
I heard Smith say,
As they stopped on the street
To shake hands and good day;
The obliging Jones
Pulled at his fob,
Was so amazed at the dial,
That he said with a sob,
"I've carried this watch
For ten years or more,
And I never knew
It to act so before;"
"Why! what—"
Was all Smith had said
Before Jones cut it off,
As if Texas dead;
On his palm on his feet
He gave it a rap,
And in his excitement
On the pavement it "dropp'd."
"There," said his friend,
As he picked up, where it dropped,
The time, which for ten years
Never had stopped;
You'll find that this will need repair,
Take it to Farrow's, Washington place.

THE VERTICAL BROILER

Has been put on the market with the full belief that it will REVOLUTIONIZE and SIMPLIFY the most important branch of kitchen business.

TO BROIL STEAKS, CHOPS, CUTLETS, FISH or FOWL, place them as seen in the open cut and set over the fire—after removing the stove cover.

NEITHER TURNING or ATTENTION is NEEDED.

The fat all falls into the trough and is conducted to the little pan outside. No SMOKE ESCAPES INTO THE ROOM.

ALL PARTS—TOP, BOTTOM, BOTH SIDES, AS WELL AS THE CENTRE OF THE FOOD, ARE DONE AT THE SAME TIME AND DONE ALIKE.

The Most Stupid Help Will Never Make a Mistake.

We claim the food is BETTER COOKED and the juices retained to a greater extent than can be done by any other known method of broiling

FIRE ALARM REGULATIONS.

To send out an alarm:

Any person who discovers a fire is requested to immediately give the alarm by crying fire, and, going to the box nearest the fire, to send out a general alarm by procuring the key, unlocking the box, and firmly putting the hook down, once only, then closing the door, being careful to see that it is locked, and returning the key.

The person sending out an alarm from a box is requested to remain near said box until the first engine arrives, to direct the firemen to the exact locality of the fire.

Cautions.

Note: pull a box if the small gong inside is striking or the machinery of the box is heard running.

Do not pull a box for a fire seen at a distance, or unless you are aware of the locality of a fire.

Key holders are requested not to allow their keys to be taken except by responsible parties.

Bell Ringers.

Bell ringers are engaged to ring the following church bells in connection with the telegraph alarm:—

The First and North Baptist, United Congregational and Emmanuel with instructions to ring their respective bells for five minutes immediately after the telegraphic alarm has completed its four rounds.

Recall.

Nine blows upon the telegraphic alarm bells will indicate that the fire is out and that the services of the department are not required.

Testing the Apparatus.

One stroke on the bells by the telegraphic alarm will simply indicate that the apparatus is in good order.

LOCATION OF BOXES AND KEYS.

Box No. 2.—On Lysander Stevens's house, Thames street, opposite Bridge street.

Keys at Lysander Stevens's and Daniel C. Denham's.

Box No. 3.—Mrs. Sylvanus Wilbour's house, corner of Touro and Spring streets.

an' I have it here in me pocket for him. I was thinkin' av sindin' it t' the priest as restitution money; but thin I thought I'd like t' come an' see the ould country wanst more. So I'll go over t' Push's, Peggy, an' thin, maybe, whin I come back, ye'll give me a shake-down, for the sake av ould times."

"Yis, troth! I will Nancy, with a cead mille failthe," sez I; and away she wint up the road.

I was watchin' for her for a long time, and the evenin' was just closin' in whin wan o' Pat Magrath's children kem runnin' in t' me, an' he sez:

"Mrs. Boyle," sez he, "Push wants yez," sez he; "an' yer t' come over a minnit t' the shop."

I didn't wait t' throw on me cloak or anything, but run off as I was. Throth! it 'nd do yer heart good t' see the look on Push's face whin I winj into the kitchen. There was a roarin' turf fire, an' t' kittle hangin' on the crook over it, an' Push settin' on the settle, wid his two hands an his knees, an he wid his eyes fastened on Nancy, no matter where she wint. An' there she was wid her gownd tucked up, an' she gittin' the tay-cups an' saucers down from the dhresser, just the way she usn't whin Mrs. Hennessey was there years ago.

Shure I seen at wanst how it all was, an' I wint over an' shook hands wid Push 'athout sayin' a word. He kept lookin' at Nancy, an' two big tears rowled down his cheeks, an' he stud up, an' he sez: "Peggy," sez he, "I want ye t' let Nancy live wid yeh until we can get called in chapel. Won't you do that for an ould nabor?"

"Throth, Push!" sez I, "it's angry wid yeh I am for thinking yeh want t' ask me such a think. Ax course Nancy'll come t' me!"

So that's all, Miss Main. Nancy an' Push is t' be married at the beginnin av the new year. An' what d'ye think was the last thing Push sed last night? "Well," sez he, "God's very good—a powerful sight more so nor we deserve—an', after all, human nature's the grandest thing ont. It was wake human natur med Nancy mistrust me an' go away, but it was sthrong human natur that made her want t' come back t' the ould country, an' now shure, its only the height of human natur that makes me want t' git married an' be together for the rest av our days. The Lord be praised for all His mercies!"

An' betebune laughin' an' cryin' we both sed:

"Amin." —[London Society.

"TRUTH is MIGHTY, and WILL PREVAIL."

Sworn Statement

—OF A—

BOSTON POLICE OFFICER

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—From exposure I took sick about nine years ago with Rheumatic Fever, from which I suffered about four months. When I recovered from the fever I found myself suffering with pain in my side and constipation, which brought on the piles. I consulted a physician, and paid him over $200 for attending me, and all the while I was gradually growing worse. Then one physician after another was employed, until seven of the best physicians of Boston had taken my case in hand.

On consultation between several of the leading physicians, they concluded my complaint was asthma and general debility. I had great difficulty in breathing, and an inhaler was required to afford me breath. Through the treatment of one physician I took from 75 to 100 boxes of calomel pills, and faithfully tried all the medicine that each physician described. From my long sickness, and the vast amount of medicine used to overcome the great pain, my kidneys became badly affected, and I suffered excruciating pain in the small of my back, with great difficulty in passing my urine.

One physician said I was deceased all through my system, and he regretted that he could give me no hope for health. My suffering from indigestion was so great that it was impossible to keep any solid food on my stomach, and the whole nature of my food was broth from oatmeal.

I also took a prescription from a celebrated English physician, who said my trouble was Bronchitis and Dyspepsia. I took 18 bottles of medicine especially prepared for Dyspepsia, and I have used a great deal of medicine from apothecaries' prescription. I have taken Sarsaparilla until you could count the bottles by the dozen, and indeed I have given nearly all the popular advertised medicine a fair trial. I had a dreadful cough, and did not average over 2 hours' sleep a night for 8 years.

A brother policeman urged me to try Vegetine, but for a long time I refused, having got completely discouraged from taking so much medicine without any benefit; however, after urgent persuasion I concluded to try it, and before I had used one bottle I could eat and hold on my stomach a beefsteak, a thing I had not been able to do before for years; indeed, I obtained more substantial benefit from the first bottle of Vegetine than from all other medicines which I had taken. I kept on improving, and kept on using the Vegetine, until I was perfectly cured and able to do duty all day, eat and digest my food, sleep well at night, and I am 40 pounds heavier than I ever was before in my life, and am, as I think, a living contradiction of the prophecies of the most learned medical talent of New England, for with all of their combined wisdom they could not accomplish so much as that simple vegetable medicine called Vegetine, to which I am indebted for health, life, and happiness.

EUGENE F. SULLIVAN,
357 Athens street, Police Station 4.

SUFFOLK ss., BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 23d, 1875.

Then personally appeared the above named Eugene F. Sullivan, and made oath that the foregoing statement is true, before me. ROSEA D. ROWER, Justice of the Peace.

FURTHER PROOF.

FACTS WILL TELL

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—Allow me to say a word in favor of VEGETINE. During the past year I have suffered from a complication of diseases. I took to bed from the 31 of November until the middle of the following June, and on an average did not sit up two hours a week; I had eight of the best physicians in the state, but got no help, and constantly grew worse. They agreed that I had heart disease, phthisis, pyaemia and kidney complaint, and could never be any better. I was reduced in weight 50 pounds, which is much for I am naturally thin.

In June, finding I was failing under the treatment of the physicians, I commenced the use of VEGETINE, through the earnest persuasion of friends, and I am happy to state, with good results. I have gained ten pounds in weight, and can sit up all day, walk half a mile and ride six.

I am greatly encouraged, and shall continue using the VEGETINE if I can get it. I am a poor man, but for the truth of this statement I refer to any man in Cottstown or vicinity. Yours, very thankfully,

A. J. HUBBARD,
August 1, 1875, Cottstown, N. H.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 78 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with despatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

My Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are hereby saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE.

Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, and has been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents; as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." Bouquets, Baskets, Cut Flowers and Choice Plants. Gardens laid out and kept in order by the day, month or year.

NEWPORT EXOTIC GARDEN.

WHERE can I find it? is sometimes asked by strangers, but never by old visitors.

Now is the time to secure your bedding plants. We never before had such a quantity and never such fine plants as this season, consisting of all the new and rare plants. All we desire, is to come and look and see for yourselves. Roses, Dracenias, Centaurias, Geraniums of all sorts, Carnations, Coleous, &c., all of these by the hundred or thousand. Hundreds of other varieties of bedding and foliage plants, all at low rates. Baskets, Stands, Vases, Jardinieres. A fine lot of Ferns, Begonias, Caladiums, Palms, Euphorbias, Camellias and Azalias, Rose Buds by the hundred, and everything pertaining to a first-class Horticultural Establishment. ☞ All orders received this season for Bouquets, Baskets, Cut Flowers, and decorations for parties and weddings, received at the garden, as we have vacated our store on Bellevue av., to avoid extortionate rent. Trees of various sorts to be found in addition to the above. Galvin & Geraghty, Dearborn and Spring streets, Newport, R. I. may1
